STILLER DONNER for piano solo

“Silent Thunder” is an intriguing zoological phenomenon: elephants are able to communicate with each other ultrasonically, using frequencies that are wholly inaudible to us. Members of the same troop can perceive and react to these deep oscillations even at a distance of 20 km. This mysterious faculty possessed by animals awakened in the composer’s mind a musical association linked to the wide sound spectrum of the piano. The resulting 10-minute soundscape demonstrates once again Ming Wang’s fine creative imagination and supreme aural and technical skills.

“Here one finds a blend of the scholarly and the modern practical needs of the performer and student that many, more famous publishing houses would do well to emulate”
